MARY MAGDALENE

Mary Magdalene was part of a group of women who followed and supported Jesus and his disciples as they went from town to town. Mary had been possessed by a demon which Jesus cast out and she was grateful and loyal to Jesus.

Unswerving in her devotion to Jesus, Mary was at the cross when Jesus was crucified. She witnessed his burial by Joseph of Arimathea. She saw the Roman guard roll an enormous stone in front of the tomb, and returned to the tomb at dawn after the Sabbath with spices to anoint Jesus' body.

Mary is present at the tomb in each of the gospel accounts. In John's gospel, she saw two angels inside the tomb. She then saw a man, who she assumed was the gardener and asked him where he took the body. The man was Jesus. The Jesus spoke her name and she recognized him. She called him Rabboni which means teacher.

Jesus told her to go and tell the disciples that he had been raised from the dead. She immediately ran to tell them, but they did not believe her.
